WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY L. A Financial Meeting at Parkersburg.

The Parkersburg Times of Monday furnishes us the proceedings of a citizens' meeting held in the Court House in that place last Saturday afternoon "in regard to the financial difficulties of the country," Among those who took prominent part in it were Messrs. Okey Johnson, J. E. Wharton, John J. Jackson, Sr., and J. A. Hutchinson The following resolutions were passed, as we are told, with but one dissenting

WHEREAS, Our Government, in passing through the late terrible conflict with a portion of its people who resisted its authority, found it necessary to extend its credit beyond the capacity of the country immediately to pay, and to prevent a faial accumulation of a circulating medium, to issue its bonds with extraordinary interest, and with priveleges not enjoyed by those in the ordinary business of life; and WHEREAS, Said bonds were sold by the Government under an inflated currency at much less than their value in the Government under an innated cur-rency at much less than their value in a normal condition, thus doubling their value to the holder; and

Wieheas, the war now being closed, and the confidence of the people in the capacity of the Government to sustain itself and ultimately pay its indebtedness being fully established, we hold that the currency issued by our Government, is the best and most reliable of any that we have had or can have; and

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress, be and are hereby requested to use their influence and votes on all occasions to prevent the Secretary of the Treasury from contracting the currency, and vote in all cases for the extension thereof.

We question if the very last days of the Confederacy, when gold was at a thousand premium, realized so romantic a picture as we might expect

After reading that the resolutions passed the meeting with only one dissenting voice, we are not surprised to see a writer in the Times commending them as the "wisest policy that could be-adopted." He affirms that "the people are beginning to feel that the 'bulls and bears' have too much power in the Government," and thinks with some Duke has $50,000 a year, but that a thousand fathers of families have $50 a year that is true national wealth and wellbeing." The resolutions, he contends "propose to unioek ine vast amount of the country's capital, now wrapped up in bonds bearing exorbitant interest" and in their place deal out the orig-inal pure faith and credit of the nation in bonds bearing exoronant in such expansion in the shape of legal tender notes. If the Southern people accept the situation as they now and it, and present themselves in compliance with the North Senator Wilson Senator Wil North than Mr. Stevens is, If the Southern people accept the situation as they now find it, and present themselves in compliance with the laws of Congress, the overwhelming public opinion of the North will be against exacting cars, they would, from the very of the North will be against exacting of the white people, be taught one of those sharp, severe, and terrible lessons which they would remember for many years.

meaning is that the paper is gradually going over to the Republican party. We are inclined to think so ourselves, and weanticipate a large following from the Virginia people. Its positions against making common cause with the Democracy has played out. They recognize in it their life-long the meaning in that the negroes of the South will never affiliate with it. They recognize in it their life-long enemy. We quote from the Agronicle its own words on this head, as follows:

"What will the Northern representatives of the Democratic party say to the description of the cause to which the new of the cause to which the percentage and the state of the Democratic party say to the description and the triumph of the cause to which the means of the Northern representatives of the Democratic party say to the cause to which the new of the Orthogolae in the triumph of the cause to which the and they have devoted their lives.

The disagreewere strongly disapproved cept the writer of them. The disagree-ment between Mr. Greeley and Mr. Dana which led to the latter's with-drawal from the Tribune, to the det-riment of the paper, had its origin in Mr. Dana's opposition to Mr. Greeley's unwise and unpatriotic views as to the best mode of dealing with the rebellion. He suppressed some of Mr. Greeley's most outrageous articles, and his only fault as manager of the Trib-une was that he did not suppress more. He yielded too much his own better judgment to the whims of his use was that he did not suppress more. He yielded too much his own better judgment to the whims of his nominal chief, whose knowledge of turnips is unimpeachable, but whose opinions on politics or public affairs are of very little real value.
